Social Protection Reform Project
中国-欧盟社会保护改革项目

Updated on July 2016

Background

Social protection reform in China started in 1984 to accompany the development of the socialist market economy and has made encouraging progress since then. China's new Social Insurance Law promulgated in 2010 confirms the Government's responsibilities on basic social protection throughout the Country. A major challenge to the social protection system in China is that it must adapt to the rapidly growing urban residents and ageing population. Policy makers should also keep concerning on the excluded in order to maintain social stability and further promote social justice throughout the country.

Aiming at continuing building and further developing an "inclusive" prosperous society, the Central Government has announced, in late 2012, that it will "make efforts" on establishing a society of "equal rights, equal opportunities and equal rules". China's 12th Five Year Economic and Development Plan (2011-2015) aims at better livelihood and social benefits for the people and full coverage of social protection system over the people.

Social protection systems of EU Member States provide a wide range of organizational models, and they are flexible to adapt to new challenges. In addition, EU Member States offer various experiences of transforming social security systems of former socialist countries into market economies, which is relevant to transformation processes taking place in China. The EU recognizes the importance of supporting the development of social protection systems in its partner Countries and considers it a priority to continue the co-operation with China in the field of social protection reform, which is stated in EU's Country Strategic Paper (2007-2013).

The EU-China Social Protection Reform Project (SPRP)

In 2014, the European Commission and the Government of China (Ministry of Commerce – MOFCOM) have formulated the "EU – China Social Protection Reform Project", a four years cooperation initiative aimed at promoting social equity and inclusiveness of economic development throughout Chinese society – as well as cooperation and dialogue between the EU and China in the same field. This project is considered as the successor of the EU-China Social Security Reform Project, conducted successfully at the central and local levels with Ministry of Human Resources and Social Security – MoHRSS – between 2006 and 2011. The Commission has envisaged to implement the action through a grant contract with a consortium of specialized public authorities and mandated bodies of the EU Member States in the area of social protection.

Project description

The project's overall objective is to further develop social equity and inclusiveness of economic development throughout Chinese society. The project's specific objective is to contribute to the improvement and inclusiveness of China's social protection system through strengthening the institutional capability for developing policies, for implementing legal & regulatory frameworks and for supervising systems of social insurances, social assistance and financial management in the area of social security.

The project consists of three components:

Component 1 supports the Chinese National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC) in strengthening institutional capacity for social protection policy development and reforms. The Component is coordinated by Expertise France (France) and it aims to achieve the following results:

- Under the leadership of the NDRC, coordination of policy making among government agencies in areas related to social protection reform is strengthened;
- The capacity of the NDRC in policy development and implementation, notably establishing and enforcing a national policy evaluation technique in the area of social protection, is enhanced;
- National policy framework for a full coverage of old-age insurance system throughout China is consolidated by strengthening the interface of various schemes, pension funding pooling, old-age insurance scheme for civil servants/the employee of public agencies and the existing multi-layer pension system;
- Reform efforts in response to urbanization trends, in particular the harmonization and integration of the various basic social protection systems for different groups of beneficiaries, the portability of social insurances and better suited assistance schemes.

Component 2 supports the Ministry of Finance (MoF) to enhance institutional capacity for financial management and supervision concerning social security funds. The Component is coordinated by INPS (Italy) and it aims to achieve the following results:

- The capacity of MoF financial management and supervision of central and local model of social security system and the extension of social security system coverage are enhanced, in particular in the fields of division of expenditure responsibilities, mid-terms budgeting of fund, and performance assessment model;
- Enhance the top level design ability in the basic pension insurance;

establish actuarial analysis models for basic pension insurance reform;

- The capacity of the MoF in the management of social insurance funds, focusing on fiscal support budgeting, account system, investment techniques and adjustment mechanisms for pension benefits is strengthened.

Component 3 assists the Chinese Ministry of Civil Affairs (MoCA) in the improvement of legal framework and policy enforcement for social assistance. The Component is coordinated by the Ministry of Family Labour and Social Policy (Poland) and it aims to achieve the following results:

- The capacity of the MoCA for promulgating and enforcing the Social Assistance Law and the regulations on rural and urban minimum standards of living are strengthened; the skills of local officials in policy transmission and implementation are upgraded;
- The legal frameworks on a) formulation of unified standards for the estimation and calculation of social assistance benefits, b) recognition of social assistance target groups and c) identification of low-income families are consolidated;
- Efforts of the MoCA in improved care for poor rural people and disabled people are strengthened, and public information and transparency of social assistance policies are raised at provincial level.

Besides the specific project results, the SPRP provides a unique mechanism to support the context of cooperation and partnership that has been set up between Europe and China, as by:

- Establishing a Mechanism for EU-China High Level Dialogue on other significant matters at a more global level.
- Creating several partnerships between Specialized Public Bodies of EU Member States and the Chinese Government Agencies.

Main project activities

Planned activities include research conducted in China, technical cooperation and expert support from European countries, training in-country and abroad, dialogue and study visits, experiments in a limited number of decentralised sites, high level policy dialogue between European and Chinese entities on key aspects of social protection reform, exposure to best relevant European practices identified on the basis of national Chinese priorities.

The project budget financed by the European Union is of some 7 million euros to be used over a four years period - November 2014 to November 2018. Chinese Government counterparts provide an in-kind matching contribution to project financing.

Project Team and Office in China

A permanent office of the project has been set up in Beijing. Three European Resident Experts are in charge of the implementation and coordination of the project activities connected to their components. The three resident experts are:

Michele Bruni, Team Leader and Resident Expert for Component 2

INPS, the National Social Security Institute is one of the greatest and most complex social security organisations in Europe. It manages almost the entire Italian social security with a budget which size is second only to the State own budget. Most employees from the public and private sector and free-lancers are insured by INPS. INPS tasks and internal organisation are regulated by legislation. Italy's social security system was established in 1898 with the creation of the Cassa Nazionale di Previdenza (National Welfare Fund), which dealt with social security for disabled and elderly workers.

The Institute created over a hundred years ago with the purpose to ensure workers against the risks of disability, old age and death has assumed over time an increasingly important role up to becoming the pillar of the national welfare System.

In 1919, invalidity and old-age insurance became compulsory and involved 12 million of workers. In 1933, it was named INPS, a self-management public law agency with legal personality. In 1989, the law on INPS reorganisation (Law 88 of 9 March 1989) was of particular importance in the process of transforming the institute into a modern service agency that introduces the criteria of economy and entrepreneurship, and financially separates assistance from social security.

In 2011, INPDAP (National social security institute for Public Administration employees) and ENPALS (National social security and assistance agency for workers of the show business) were abolished and on 31 March 2012, the competences of the two agencies were conveyed to INPS, so as to render public service more efficient and effective, thus ensuring that the citizens have one interlocutor for assistance and social security services.

In addition to overall leadership for the project, INPS is also ensuring activities related to Component 2 (Social protection financing).
